ORGATEC 2026 reports strong results at end of early bird phase

ORGATEC, the leading international trade fair for the modern working world and contemporary workspaces, will take place in Cologne from 27 to 30 October 2026 and is already recording high registration figures. This year's early bird discount phase ended on 15 June - four months earlier than for ORGATEC 2024. Nevertheless, around 8 per cent more space has been booked and the number of registered exhibitors is approximately 25 per cent above the equivalent figures for the previous edition. The positive figures illustrate the relevance of the trade fair and the considerable anticipation felt by the industry for next year's event.

The number of international registrations also remains in line with the very good level recorded for ORGATEC 2024. The positive interim figures confirm that ORGATEC 2026 is clearly on track for success. Sales are in full swing, and hall planning will begin in October. The strong interest from both inside and outside Germany is proof of ORGATEC's relevance as an essential platform for the working environments of tomorrow.

"We are delighted with the excellent registration figures, especially given the challenging situation currently facing the furniture industry in Europe. These results are an important signal for the entire sector and once again underline ORGATEC's significance as the leading international trade fair for the modern working world and a key stage for solutions in the contract business. In 2026, the event will be the platform for dialogue, innovation and new ideas once again," comments Maik Fischer, Director of ORGATEC.

New trade fair concept continues to evolve

Preparations for the ORGATEC 2026 event programme are also well underway. The aim is to further develop and refine the trade fair concept that was introduced with great success in 2024. With special themed areas and the Wherever Whenever - Work Culture Festival, next year's ORGATEC is again set to offer far more than just a traditional furniture showcase next year. Trade fair attendees can look forward to an inspiring combination of pioneering product innovations, relevant content and experience-oriented formats.
