Design Post will be an official element of ORGATEC and idd cologne in 2026

Koelnmesse and Design Post Köln are further expanding their partnership for the interiors week

For the first time, Design Post Köln is assuming a dual role in 2026 and is being incorporated into both ORGATEC and idd cologne. As an additional exhibition location, it complements the offering of ORGATEC, while providing the heart of the urban-only concept for idd cologne, which is taking place parallel. The heritage-protected design location thus links modern work worlds, contract solutions and residential interior design at one place and creates a common meeting point for trade and private visitors. ORGATEC takes place from 27 to 30 October 2026; idd cologne from 27 to 31 October 2026.

Following the successful integration of Design Post Köln for the premiere of idd cologne 2025, the cooperation will be significantly expanded this year. In the context of ORGATEC and interior design days cologne, international premium brands will present themselves in the Design Post, complemented by exhibitions, events and networking formats.

"Within the interiors week, the Design Post consciously assumes various roles: it expands ORGATEC with additional international brands and new networking possibilities, while it links the various design locations of the city with one another as the central starting point of the urban-only concept of idd cologne. Visitors thus profit from an even more diverse interiors experience with short routes, additional inspiration and new contacts", according to Maik Fischer, Director of ORGATEC.

Additional exhibition location of ORGATEC

With the Design Post, ORGATEC, as the leading international trade fair for workspace and contract solutions, acquires another exhibition location in the direct vicinity of the fair grounds. The trade fair experience in this way expands beyond the halls and makes an additional encounter space for design, dialogue and new impulses accessible for trade visitors.

Central location of the urban-only concept of idd cologne

Design Post is at the heart of idd cologne in 2026. From here, private and trade visitors explore the urban industry event revolving around exclusive residential interior design. Together with machwerkhaus köln, Design Season Cologne as well as independent showrooms and stores in the Cologne city area, it characterises the decentralised interior design experience in the city. The now more comprehensive incorporation picks up on the successful cooperation in 2025 and reinforces the role of Design Post within the overall concept.

International brand diversity at one place

In the Design Post, leading international interior design brands for living, work and contract solutions will present themselves during the interiors week, including Arco, Arper, DEDON, ECHTSTAHL, Ferm Living, Gärsnäs, GLOSTER, HOWE, Lodes, mdf italia, Misura Rugs, Mizetto, mobitec, Prostor, RIVA, Secto Design und Tubes in the context of idd cologne. Also in the context of ORGATEC, renowned brands including Flokk, Hund Office, Klöber, Schneeweiss Interior and Wagner Living will present themselves in Design Post. Shown will be new products, current interiors trends and premium design solutions. The diverse offering is complemented by various event and networking formats that provide inspiration and promote a personal exchange within the international interior design community.

Koelnmesse will take over Design Post on 1 January 2027

The integration of the Design Post into ORGATEC and idd cologne marks the next milestone in the cooperation between Koelnmesse and Design Post Köln, which has been in place since July 2025. On 1 January 2027, Koelnmesse will take over operation of the Design Post and permanently integrate the heritage-protected location into its trade fair and event architecture. The Koelncongress subsidiary will in future be responsible for marketing and operation. In the context of this year's interiors week, the partnership is already showing how the Design Post can enrich the offering of two international interior design events in different ways.

A visit to the Design Post in the context of the two events is free. Trade visitors can also visit ORGATEC, the leading international trade fair for workspace and contract solutions, in the Cologne exhibition halls (27 to 30 October 2026). A valid ORGATEC ticket is required for access.
