ART COLOGNE 2024: More galleries and inspiring newcomers

More than 175 galleries and dealers from 24 countries in Cologne in November +++ Strong increase in young galleries

In autumn, ART COLOGNE presents a broad international offering of art for the 57th time. From 7 to 10 November, the art fair will show art from around 175 selected galleries and dealers - more than in the previous year.

Strong growth has been especially registered in the NEUMARKT section, where 26 young and innovative galleries will present themselves this year. "I am very satisfied with this year's list for the NEUMARKT section. It is very international and offers new and young discoveries. That is the future!" Daniel Hug, Director and Artistic Head of ART COLOGNE, is pleased to announce.

The newcomers can be found on the four plazas in the corners of the hall, where they are optically emphasised by white carpets. This expansion makes clear the great interest of young galleries in participating in ART COLOGNE and underlines the importance of the art fair as the most important meeting point for galleries, collectors and art institutions in Germany.

This year, according to Hug, a strong interest on the part of galleries from Turkey can be felt: "Among the participants we have strong names like Zilberman, Anna Laudel and Sevil Dolmalci, but also Dirimart and Nev, who are new participants." A strong continuity can be detected among the participating established galleries. Names with international charisma like Karsten Greve, Gisela Capitain, Thaddaeus Ropac, Sprüth Magers, EIGEN + ART, Max Hetzler, Daniel Buchholz and Nagel Draxler are once again represented at ART COLOGNE in 2024. Important Dutch and Belgian galleries like Ron Mandos from Amsterdam, Edouard Simoons and QG Gallery from Knokke will also be coming to Cologne in November. As are Filomena Soares from Lisbon and Neon Parc from Melbourne, who are returning to ART COLOGNE after a brief absence.
